Ford Motor Company

This website and the Ford Diagnosis and Repair system have been updated to provide the enhanced functionality to meet the new European legislative requirements.

Announcement

Dear User.

Great news - Routine Service Check Sheets are now available to use on the 'Free Resources' tab.

Manufacturers of diagnostic tools wishing to purchase diagnostic data that will contribute to the development of diagnostic tools and those companies engaged in Periodic Test Inspection related activities should email IORS@ford.com for further details of Ford's provisions.

For any other queries, please visit the contact us tab below to find the appropriate email address.

Warning

Are you the legal representative of your organisation for the use of this site? The legal representative is the person who takes legal responsibility for the actions of the business and its employees (e.g. the dealer principal/ general manager), and who is responsible for registering the business in the system including entering the VAT details, company address and for acceptance of the terms and conditions. If you are not the legal representative within your organisation you should contact them and they will be able to create an account in the system for you. To continue to register as an Independent Operator Legal Representative, select Continue.
